Graduate Program 2010

Terra Firma is a national full service business consulting organisation with offices in Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide and Canberra.

At Terra Firma our graduates gain initial experience in all consultancy competencies before choosing an area of specialisation: Business Analysis, Project Management, Learning & Development, Change Management or Business Transformation.

You will work closely with senior Terra Firma consultants on various client projects and be guided through the entire project lifecycle.

You will gain new skills in all areas of Business Analysis, such as Process Mapping and Re-engineering, Requirements, Commercial Analysis as well as Testing.

During the Project Management phase of the graduate program, you will be involved in planning and monitoring schedules, budgets, risk and issues on projects for our broad range of clients.

You will not only gain experience in project management and business analysis skills but will also learn how to present and communicate effectively with key stakeholders and become a "fully fledged" consultant.

In addition to this wide-ranging experience, you will be offered a tailored training program to further complement your skills and interests.

You will be working in an exciting dynamic and continually changing environment where you will be constantly challenged to develop and improve your skills.

We are not fussy about the type of Degree you graduate with — Arts, Commerce, Law, Economics, Psychology, Engineering, Education, IT — we have them all at Terra Firma.

However, you must have the following attributes to help you become a successful consultant:

- exceptional problem solving skills
- analytical and be able to think outside the square
- superior communication skills both verbal and written
- energetic and vibrant personality
- passionate for getting the job done to clients' satisfaction
- determination to become a successful consultant

Applications close 10 April 2009.

You will be contacted after 10 April either by telephone or email and updated on the progress of your application.

Apply now if you feel Terra Firma is the perfect opportunity to start your professional career!
